DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-27, drawn to concrete plant and method of using, classified in class 366, subclass 8.
  - II. Claims 28-37, drawn to slurry mixer with interengaging rotatable stirrers, classified in class 366, subclass 301.
  - III. Claims 38-41, drawn to a flow control device, classified in class 285, subclass 301.
  - IV. Claims 42-45, drawn to preparing concrete including heating, classified in class 366, subclass 7.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Group I only broadly requires a slurry mixer, not the specific slurry mixer of Group II. The subcombination has separate utility such as mixing chocolate or mixing slurry for chemical-mechanical polishing of semiconductor wafers, for example.

Art Unit: 1723

3. Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as controlling grain flow, coal flow, or any other particulate material flow. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

4. Inventions I and IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because heating is not required by Group I. The subcombination has separate utility such as making concrete in a fixed plant rather than in a plant on a wheel vehicle. Also, the subcombination could be used in a plant without a "slurry mixer" and/or without the specific conveyor arrangement of Group I, but instead whereby cement, sand, rock and water are all mixed simultaneously in a single vessel.

5. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, the slurry mixer could be used to mix without the flow control device and the flow control device could be used without the slurry mixer. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Art Unit: 1723

6. Inventions II and IV are unrelated. Group IV is a method that does not involve a slurry mixer (Group II).
7. Inventions III and IV are unrelated. Group IV is a method that does not involve a flow control device (Group III).
8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
9. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each Group is different, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
10. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
11. A telephone call was made to Michael Bondi on 22 August 2002 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
